WISH PAYS OFF FOR 'CHICKEN FARM QUEEN'

Harbor City Nurse Mrs. William Taylor, whose 8-year-old son Billy has an incurable brain ailment, made a small wish two weeks ago.

"I would like two hens and a rooster for my son who has been ill," she wrote on a small orange slip of paper and carefully mailed it.

Mrs. Taylor's husband is a merchant seaman and they moved to 25611 President avenue from Torrance two years ago when their son's medical expenses became so great that they had to sell their home.

After vying with hundreds of unseen contestants who also mailed in orange slips of paper and 20 real live ones for audience applause, on April 27 Mrs. Taylor was chosen "Queen For A Day."

And then her small wish paid off.

Her "two hens and a rooster" quickly became 500 pedigreed pullets, which will go to her from Platteville, Wis. To house the pullets, Mrs. Taylor was given $1000 worth of chicken equipment; to feed them she received 1000 pounds of feed.

But that was only the start.

The first "Chicken Farm Queen" also received a sterling silver sceptre, four dozen roses, Queen For A Day doll, Joan Castle pin, pearls with a three-diamond clasp, a hat, gloves, suit, three blouses, a dress, shoes, three cartons of cigarettes, nail and lip make up, a famous brand of cosmetics for a year, complete hair-do and make-up to give her the queenly appearance.

What did Mrs. Taylor do when she found how queenly queens really are?

"I cried," said Mrs. Taylor.

Tears aside, she appeared on the morning television show "Queen For A Day," went to Earl Carroll's and the Beach-comber restaurant, visited both 20th Century Fox studios, where she met Ida Lupino, Celeste Hahn and Cornel Wilde. The Queen's mother, Mrs. A. B. Davis of Burbank, accompanied her on the tour.

Her blond son, Billy, polite and intelligent, but whom only an advance in medical science can help, was awestruck when he saw his mother in royal raiment.

"Your majesty!" he said as he ran ahead to clear a path for her.

The Taylors, with a garage crammed full of equipment, plan to go into the chicken business, with Billy in charge, on a lot at the rear of their home.

Devil's Post Pile National Monument, located in Madera County on the Middle Fork of the San Joaquin River consists of a spectacular mass of hexagonal basaltic columns like immense posts. Two feet in diameter and forty feet high, these posts are perfect prisms.

A HAZARD REMOVED

In turning around on a rural road there is one preventive step against getting stuck. That involves seeing that, if one pair of wheels must get off the pavement, the front two are selected. They have nothing to do with driving the car and if they should get stuck the rear wheels can usually pull them out.
